DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-2, 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ohono et al.

Ohono et al discloses a method for producing a magnetic recording medium having a nonmagnetic substrate coated with a magnetic coating material containing a ferromagnetic powder and a binder. A ferromagnetic powder and solvent is disclosed as initially separate from a binder (para 0021). The ferromagnetic powder, solvent, and binder are mixed together by applying an ultrasonic wave (para 0081).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ohono et al in view of Hall et al.

Ohono et al discloses what is described above in the 35 USC 102 rejection.

Ohono et al does not disclose applying ultrasonic to the ferromagnetic powder and a solvent before the binder is admixed.

Hall et al discloses applying ultrasonic to the ferromagnetic powder and a solvent before a binder is admixed (col 3, lines 5-11)

It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art to include applying ultrasonic to the ferromagnetic powder and a solvent before a binder is admixed because Hall et al teaches pH adjustments required for efficient coatings (col 2, lines 56-67; col 3, lines 1-2).

5. Claims 4 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ohono et al in view of Ikeuchi et al.

Ohono et al discloses what is described above in the 35 USC 102 rejection.

Ohono et al does not disclose needle particle dimensions as claimed in claims 4 and 7.

Ikeuchi et al discloses needle particle dimensions as claimed in claims 4 and 7 (para 0081).

It would have been obvious tone with ordinary skill in the art to include needle particle dimensions as claimed in claims 4 and 7 because Ikeuchi et al teaches advantages of needle particle use (para 0081).

6. Claims 5 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ohono et al in view of Akashi et al

Ohono et al discloses what is described above in the 35 USC 102 rejection. Ohono et al does not disclose plate particle dimensions as claimed in claims 5 and 8.

Akashi et al discloses plate particle dimensions as claimed in claims 5 and 8 (col 3, lines 24-40).

It would have been obvious tone with ordinary skill in the art to include plate particle dimensions as claimed in claims 5 and 8 because Akashi teaches advantages for using plate type particles (col 1, lines 15-39).

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Ohno et al states at paragraph 0070 that "all or part of the additives used in the present invention may be added to a magnetic coating solution at any stage of its preparation". Ohno et al goes on further to state that the additive may be blended with the ferromagnetic powder before a kneading step (para 0070).

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
